

Congratulations to Brandi Fore and J. Fagner

Winners of the $50,000 Dream Wedding!

The Proposal:

When J. was planning to propose, it was New Years Eve and J. spent the entire day making it seem as though he had nothing planned for the night with Brandi. After going to dinner and a movie, Brandi and J. decided to go home and call it a night.

Her dad offered to take J. for a ride in his Camaro so Brandi changed into her pajamas, thinking that the night was over. Around 9:00 pm the pager for the fire station (where Brandi volunteers) went off calling all first responders to the station for a "special assignment" so Brandi quickly changed and made her way to the station. When Brandi arrived, she went inside to wait on everyone else since she was the only one around. J. came out from behind the rescue truck with a dozen long stemmed roses and a box of Godiva chocolates. Brandi asked him (in a very surprised state)... "What are you doing?" already knowing the answer. J. replied, "I think you know what I'm doing!" He led her through the trucks to the back of the station where he had a bottle of champagne,

2 champagne flutes and 132 votive candles lit spelling out "BRANDI MARRY ME!?" He got down on his knee and pulled out a little blue and pink box with a beautiful diamond ring inside. I think I said "YES" before he was even finished asking the question Brandi told us. Afterwards he made a toast and they had their first sip of champagne and danced to George Strait's "It Just Comes Natural." Soon after, Brandi's parents and sister arrived to take pictures and celebrate. As it turns out J. DID have something planned after all!

The Dream Wedding Giveaway:

Brandi and J. heard about the Dream Wedding Giveaway from a friend and decided to register for the event together. During J.'s lunch break, the two would drive around Waco and completed a total of 32 registration forms, mostly based on availability and close proximity. Once the registration deadline had arrived and all the entry forms were collected, Brandi was selected among 9 other finalists for the giveaway. The celebration party was underway and greeted by much anticipation for all in attendance.

The Winner:

Brandi and J. arrived with both of their families and anxiously awaited the announcement of who would win.

Everyone gathered together as the tumbler turned and one finalist was drawn; it was complete silence until Brandi's name was announced and then everyone erupted in cheers and applause for them. Brandi was speechless and completely overwhelmed with a feeling of disbelief. It took them a second to process that their names had actually been called and they were the recipients of the $50,000 Dream Wedding. Both sets of parents were ecstatic and it was very special for all of them to be at the party to share this special moment. Brandi and J. have started planning for their October 13, 2007 wedding and have met with some of the generous donors to get things underway. We wish them all the best!
